To Thine Own Self Be True

I always thought I clearly understood what that meant. It's kind of, in a way, like when I understood what "Let go and let God" meant. It didn't mean I had to let go and let God handle everything, like raising my kids, or doing my job. I had to take responsibility for what I am responsible for.

My sponsor would say that I'm responsible for the effort, but not the outcome. I am responsible for the effort.

The same holds true when speaking about slogans like "How important is it?" This slogan is an amazing tool when it comes to things like, do I want to be right, or do I want to be happy? However, it's not a cure-all for self honesty. I can be right, and find that it's not all that important to let the entire North American continent know about it. I can be happy with the fact that I know what I know, and then let it go.

However, when it comes to matters of boundaries that have been set, I must pay close attention to "How important is it?" If I set a boundary for myself, then it must be important to me, or I wouldn't have bothered. If I then apply the slogan "How important is it?" I am creating a significant foundation for future frustration and aggravation: Not so much with the offender, but more so for myself, for not being honest with myself.

How important is it? It's pretty damn important.

Sometimes, I don't know what my needs are. Often times, there is that gut-wrenching feeling that makes me ill. It's important that I take the time to pay attention to the warning signs. That feeling is the feeling that tells me: To thine own self be true.

Self honesty is important. If not handled with care, it leads from denial, to self-loathing.

Institutions: Reaching Out To Families

If you are looking for a way to turn the volume UP on your recovery, Institutions is seeking volunteers to bring an Al-Anon Beginners meeting into a local treatment center. It's easy and FUN! We have handouts, meeting guidelines, and other resources available, so you don't have to wing it! You'll talk a bit about your own story. Discuss the 3 C's, Detachment, and Steps 1, 2 & 3. You'll read a page from Courage To Change and give family members a Where & When. Bring an Ala-Pal with you, because we don't have to do it alone! IT'S GREAT SERVICE & many of us have been introduced to Al-Anon in just this way! Tradition 6: Our family groups ought never endorse, finance or lend our name to any outside enterprise, lest problems of money, property or prestige divert us from our primary spiritual aim. Although a separate entity, we should always cooperate with Alcoholics Anonymous.

This month's tradition reminds us that Al-Anon's primary aim is a spiritual connection. Our primary spiritual aim is to help families and if we are busy with diversions, it can get in the way of any group's or family unit's spirituality. When I work on self support, generosity, trust, and humility, my group relations heal.

Some questions to ponder this month:

- 1) Do I allow my pride or my insecurities about money to divert me from a group (or family) connection?
- 2) Does the principle of cooperation help me stay spiritual?
- 3) Do I think carefully before I endorse or lend my name to anything?

In the spirit of the 6th tradition: Page 92 of the Al-Anon Service Manual gives "permission" to announce the upcoming Alcoholics Anonymous Convention. In the spirit of cooperation, Al-Anon announces these events provided they have Al-Anon participation.

The 62nd Florida State AA Convention with Al-Anon and Alateen participation will be held in the Fort Lauderdale Marriott Harbor Beach Resort & Spa on August 15-19, 2018.

The full schedule of AA, Al-Anon and Alateen programming is available online at <https://floridastateconvention.com/>

Volunteers are needed to cover shifts at the Al-Anon Literature table during the Convention. If anyone is interested in helping out, contact Elaine F. at elainefaust@gmail.com to sign up for a time slot.

The Marriott Harbor Beach is sold out, but there are 2 nearby hotels (within walking distance from the Marriott) with availability. More info available on the website.

Two offsite parking garages ($5/day) will shuttle convention attendees back and forth to the Marriott daily from 7 AM – 12 AM.
